THE WEATHER.

U. S. Department of Agriculture.
Weather Bureau.
Toledo, O., June 22, 1892.

The barometric pressure during the past 24 hours has decreased rapidly in the west, and there is, as a result, a storm central over Nebraska, moving northeastward. The barometer has risen rapidly over the north Pacific coast and is higher over that section than in several weeks. This high area of pressure will probably pass over this section of the country during the next three days and will cause cooler weather.

Light showers and severe local thunder storms have been reported from all sections of the country during the past 24 hours, being more general around the lakes.

The temperature has fallen from 5 to 15 degrees from Nebraska north and west. It has risen 10 degrees over Nebraska, and remained nearly stationary in all other sections.

Forecast for Toledo and vicinity for next 36 hours—Showers, slight change in temperature.

Ought to be smaller — the great, griping, old-fashioned pill. There's too much unpleasantness for the money. Ought to be better, too. They're big enough, and make trouble enough, to do more good.

That's just what Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets do,—more good. Instead of weakening the system, they renovate it; instead of upsetting, they cleanse and regulate it—mildly, gently, and naturally. They're the original Little Liver Pills—the smallest but most effective, purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, and easiest to take. Only one little Pellet for a laxative—three for a cathartic. Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attack, and all derangements of the Liver, Stomach and Bowels are promptly relieved and permanently cured.

They're the cheapest pills you can buy, for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned. You pay only for the good you get. It's a plan peculiar to Dr. Pierce's medicines.

THE BATTLE IS NOW ON

The Greatest Democratic Convention of the Present Age

Is Naming a Man to Win at the Polls This Fall.

The Unit Rule Sustained by the Convention.

Governor Jimmy Campbell Loyal to Grover Cleveland.

Everything Points to the ex-President's Nomination.

Full Reports From the Wigwam Where the Democracy of a Country is Assembled to Do a Noble Work.

Chicago, June 22.—(Special)—The material facts are all known and told over and over again

Minor details remain to fill up the proceedings which from precedent must be deliberative. The ticket is now as good as made and the campaign of education has re-commenced. Some people there are who think there is no necessity for further education since the republican party has placed the democratic idea of reciprocity above the high tax notion of the class party.

The essential difference between the parties on this subject is that with democrats reciprocity is the natural sequence of fair trade and tariff for revenue only, while with the opposition it is the sugar coating of a very bad pill of restrictive trade and legislation for the individual as against the masses.

There is an element, local to Chicago, that is looking on at this convention with much interest, expecting to profit from the positive mistakes of the republican convention, and the possible mistakes of the democratic convention. The local political leaders of the alliance party are "waiting and watching over the border."

This is the judicial seat of Judge Walter Q. Gresham, of the United States circuit court.

It will be remembered that at the republican national convention four years ago, in Chicago, because of special rulings of justice and fairness, the tin pail brigade made a great demonstration for Gresham for president.

They still feel kindly toward him, and at Omaha on July 4, the new party will probably nominate him for the presidency. The prospects of this nomination are particularly favorable since the death of the leader of the south, Mr. Polk.

It will surprise the old politicians who read the Bee to be informed that the new party enthusiasts have suddenly vaulted into wonderful expectations, and are now boastful that Mr. Gresham will be elected, if nominated. Their faith is sweet and their hope is buoyant, and they plan and count the chickens which they already imagine are hatched.

Said Mr. Lester C. Hubbard, one of the editors of the new paper of this new party, "we have 65,000 intelligent voters in Cook county who renounce allegiance to the old parties and every one will vote for Gresham. We shall carry Illinois; we shall not throw the election in the house of representatives, but we shall elect Mr. Gresham president, and the American people will re-align themselves in politics, and the plutocrats shall no longer rule this country."

Such is the ebullition of the inner pot that is violently steaming in the alliance camp. All this sounds strangely and is dreamy enough for a present political lullaby on the cool shores of Lake Michigan. When the storms of a campaign shall rattle the old parties into a rough and tumble match for points, things may present another aspect. Still the unrest of the people must be taken into account in forecasting results and planning the substantial work of the campaign.

On every side is expressed confidence in Cleveland's election if he will manage the campaign as successfully as the convention, which, stated in plain English, means he will be elected if he permits Whitney to be the director general of his forces.

The campaign of education will not take care of itself and politicians must play a shrewd game during the summer months.

The first session of the convention was not remarkable for enthusiasm. A few distinguished leaders were applauded, but somehow there was lacking that spirited commencement that attended the opening of the Cincinnati convention in 1880 and the Chicago convention in 1884. Perhaps the uncertainty of those conventions lent zest to the proceedings, while the perfunctory duty of the present gathering has absorbed all the enthusiasm.

However it may be, the small anti-Cleveland following seized the opportunity to say "I told you so," and the more desperate ones plotted anew behind closed doors to fix up another slate. But it wouldn't work. Slate after slate wheeled into line, and leader after leader of the opposition announced democratic allegiance to Grover Cleveland. Even Tammany was far from sullen in its acquiesence to the inevitable. The sachem and the chiefs say Tammany will give Mr. Cleveland loyal and solid support, and Henry Watterson, the eloquently fiery Kentuckian, has come to the conclusion that somehow Whitney and Tammany will fix things before November so that New York's thirty-six electoral votes will be cast for the nominee of this convention.

Hill is completely leveled. There is no hill of obstruction any more. He might as well be in the Sandwich islands, so far as concerns his power to stay the Cleveland movement. The senator is respected for much that he has done for the democratic party in his state, but his closest friends now admit that he made a mistake in running up a presidential lightning rod in this year of grace, 1892.

The anti-snappers, as the Syracuse delegates are called, have also disappeared, backed out of the way by the commander of their own forces. Whitney so thoroughly ignored them that they do not attract attention in the convention. Their candidate is the stronger for their retirement.

The convention might easily nominate Cleveland to-day, but will wait until Thursday. Then the real work of the year will commence. Can he be elected? Hundreds of democrats say no. Thousands of democrats say yes.

THE SECOND DAY.

The Convention is Now Down to Its Hard Work.

Chicago, une 22.—At 11:15 not one-fifth of the delegates were in their seats, but there was a good deal of "private chin channing" going on in the passageways. Gov. Francis, of Missouri, though not a delegate, was earnestly talking with those who were. Permanent chairman that is to be, Wm. L. Wilson, of West Virginia, his intellectual face beaming with the pleasure of the anticipated fray, held quite an informal levee.

Precisely at 11:30, Temporary Chairman Owens rapped the conventoon to order and called upon the Rev. Alfred Henry, of the Methodist Episcopal church of Chicago, to offer prayer.

He asked that the convention be guided to choose a representative of modern progressive democracy and prayed that the party might proceed to victory not for the spoils ot office. Just as the prayer concluded the Iowa phalanx entered the hall, the big blue banner with the picture of Horace Boies borne in front of them. There were cheers from all parts of the hall and the band very appropriately struck up "Maryland, My Maryland."

When the music ceased the temporary chairman brought his gavel down and announced that the first business of the convention would be the report of the committee on credentials.

He asked if that committee was ready to report. Before any one could reply Mr. Winston, of Minnesota, got the floor and in a brief speech moved that the courtesies of the platform be extended to ex-Senators James R. Doolittle and Lyman Trumbull. The chair declared the motion carried without putting it.

The chairman again asked if the committee on credentials were ready to report.

Mr. Shaw, of Maryland, from the rear of the hall replied that they were not.

The Chair—At what time can the committee state that they will be ready?

Mr. Shaw—Not before 2 o'clock.

This announcement was received with a subdued murmur of disappointment.

The chairman inquired what was the next pleasure of the convention, the committee not being ready to report.

Mr. Delaney of Alaska got the floor and presented a memorial, which was referred to the committee on resolutions.

Then Mr. Bronson, of Kentucky, got the floor and moved that the chair appoint a committee of two to wait on the committee on credentials and ask when they would be ready to report. The motion was agreed to and Mr. Bronson and Mr. Pollard, of Indiana, were appointed.

The chair asked the convention its pleasure. Just then some one in the galleries caught sigh tof Senator Mills and started a cry for him which was taken up on the floor and soon spread until the delegates were all on chairs and in the aisles crying the distinguished Texan's name.

Tom Johnson, of Ohio, got on a chair and caught the chairman's eye. He was recognized to move that the Hon. Roger Q. Mills be invited to address the convention. The motion was carried with enthusiasm, and Mr. Johnson and Mr. Goodman, of Missouri, were appointed a committee to escort the senator to the platform.

The committee was slow in finding Mr. Mills, who had fled from the hall. During the intermission an Alabama delegate offered a resolution, which was referred.

Then there were cries of Carlisle, and then for Parker, and Mr. De Young got on his chair and moved that Mr. Palmer be invited to address the convention.

The motion was carried and Mr. De Young and Mr. Jackson, of Iowa, were This committee was more fil appointed a committee of escort. This committee was more successful than the other, and Mr. Palmer was brought before the convention in a few minutes. He was received with great applause.

At this point the galleries started the cry of Hill and there were mingled cheers for a minute. The convention quieted down presently. Continuing, Mr. Palmer said that as sure as the republican party were triumphant there would be a force bill such as the ingenuity of John Davenport and the devil might suggest.

These republicans at Minneapolis had declared themselves for more McKinleyism. The country was to be fettered. The farmers must toil against the trusts and the monopolies, and Illinois would rally to the banner. He expected Illinois to elect its state ticket and its electoral ticket as well. We don't expect to burn Chicago up, said Mr. Palmer, but we'll make it amazingly red.

As the applause died away Mr. Chapman, of Ohio, moved that John R. Fellows, of New York, be invited to address the convention. This propositin was received with applause and sme demonstration of dissent.

The chair declared the motion carried and appointed Mr. Chapman a committee to escort Mr. Fellows to the chair.

Mr. Chapman went round to Mr. Fellows's place and leaning over Gov. Flower and Lieut.-Gov. Sheehan talked earnestly with the distinguished Tammanyite, but Mr. Fellows shook his head. There were cries of Fellows.

Finally Mr. Fellows, standing on his chair from his place in the center of the hall and speaking with his characteristic clearness of tone, said:

"I am a delegate to this convention and at the proper time when it shall be appropriate for delegates to express their opinions, I may ask the opportunity to say something to the convention. I am a democrat, and as I recognize that there are a great number of distinguished gentlemen on the floors whose names are well known to the democracy not wearing the badge of a delegate it would be manifestly improper for one occupying that position now to claim your attention."

Mr. Fellows then resumed his seat and was loudly cheered. The chairman announced that the committee on credentials was ready to report. Mr. Lamb took the platform and in a clear, loud voice read the report. There was no objection to it and it was adopted.

Just as the vote was taken rain began to fall and the canvas cover was lowered about the ventilation opening, making the hall so dark that there were cries for light and much confusion prevailed.

The chairman rapped for order and announced that the committee on permanent organization was ready to report.

The report was presented by Mr. Fordyce, of Arkansas, and read by one of the clerks. It named Hon. W. L. Wilson, of West Virginia, for permanent chairman and continued the other officers of the temporary organization.

The announcement of Mr. Wilson's name was met with loud applause. The report was adopted without dissent. Then the band struck up a pot pouri of popular and national airs. "Yankee Doodle" was greeted with applause. When the music ceased, Mr. Dickinson, of Michigan, moved that a committee of five be appointed to notify Mr. Wilson of his appointment as permanent chairman.

The motion was carried whil eth echair was considering who to appoint, the band again struck up "Dixie" and the cheers were renewed.

The chairman appointed as the committe Don M. Dickinson, of Michigan; J. F. Duncomb, Iowa; John R. Fellows, New York; Joseph C. Richardson, Alabama, and M. L. Clardy, Missouri.

While the committee was performing its mission the band struck up "The Star Spangled Banner," which was applauded.

The committee was nearly five minutes together and the band was playing "Ta Ra Ra Boom" when the escort committee and the permanent chairman walked up the south aisle and across the convention hall to the platform.

Temporay Chairman Owens shook hands with Mr. Wilson and then stepped to the front of the platform and said:

"Gentlemen of the Convention: It gives me pleasure to introduce to you one of the bravest democrats in America—Mr. Wm. L. Wilson, of West Virginia."

As Mr. Wilson came forward he was greeted with a storm of applause. He wore his blue delegate badge on the lapel of a cutaway coat, under which was prominent a white vest. Mr. Wilson looked calmly over the convention during a minute's silence, and then began:

CHAIRMAN WILSON.

Splendid Address by the Son of West Virginia

Chicago, June 22.—Mr. Wilson thanked the convention for the honor conferred upon him and then proceeded to discuss the force bill issue.

"Republican success in this campaign," said he, "means that the people are to be stripped of their franchise through force bills in order that they may be stripped of their substance through tariff bills.

"Free government is self-government. There is no self-government where the people do not control their own elections and levy their own taxes. When either of these rights is taken away or diminished a breach is made not in the outer defenses, but in the citadel of our freedom.

"For years we have been struggling to recover the lost right of taxing ourselves, and now we are threatened with the loss of the greater right of governing ourselves. The loss of the one follows in necessary succession the loss of the other."

"Gov. McKinley," he continued, "declared that the democratic party believed in taxing ourselves. I am afraid, gentlemen, that we must admit this charge. What right or excuse have we for taxing any one else? We can throw the support of our government on other people by beggary or by force. If we use the one we are a pauper nation; if we use the other we are a pirate nation. The democratic party does not intend that we should be either. No more does it intend that they should falsely call it taxing other people to transfer the expenses of the government from the possession of those who own the property of the country to the bellies and backs of those who do the work.

"It believes that frugality is the essential virtue of free government. It intends to limit taxation to public needs and to levy taxes by the plain rule of justice and equality."

Speaking of reciprocity Mr. Wilson said: "It is not reciprocity at all. It is retaliation, and worst of all retaliation on our own people. It punishes American citizens for the follies of other people.

"And now we are told that reciprocity is to be the republican battle cry. We are regaled with pictures of Benjamin Harrison clad in armor and going forth to battle for reciprocity on a plumed steed. Simple Simon fishing for whales in his mother's rain barrel in great triumph catching an occasional wiggle-waggle, is the true idealistic picture of reciprocity of the McKinley type."

Chairman Wilson called the attention of the convention to the duties before it, and concluded by declaring that whoever the nominee might be he would strike down the beast of sectionalism and the moloch of monopoly, and restore again a government of the people by the people and for the people.

Before Mr. Wilson began his speech the storm had ceased and the hall had brightened, but as the provision against the coming of another storm cloud the electric lights were turned on.

Evidently Mr. Wilson knew the temper and the disposition of his audience. The keynote of tariff reform which he struck in almost his first sentence was in harmony with their feelings and they greeted everything he said with the greatest enthusiasm.

When Mr. Wilson said "I must not keep you from the work," there were cries of "Go on, go on." Mr. Wilson did go on but not much further. When he concluded his speech the delegates, rising to their feet, waved their hats as they cheered again and again.

N. L. Clardy, of Missouri, was recognized to present a resolution thanking the temporary. It was adopted.

Mr. English, of Indiana, chairman of the committee on rules, then took the platform and read the committee's report as follows:

To the surprise of the convention no minority report was presented and on motion the majority report presented by Mr. English was adopted without objection.

The chairman asked if the committee on rules was ready to report. There was no reply and in the interval that followed the band struck up a lively air.

As chairman of the committee on rules and order of business, I have been instructed by a majority of the committee to submit the following report:

We recommend that the following order of business shall be observed in this convention:

1—Report of committee on credentials.
2—Report of organization.
3—Report of committee on resolutions and platform.
4—Report of committee on nomination of president.
5—Report of the committee on nomination of vice-president.

Your committee further commends that the rules of the last national democratic convention shall be adopted for the government of this convention.

The fact that no attempt was made by New York, Missouri or any other anti-Cleveland state to force the proposed anti-unit resolution is looked upon as indicating that the fight against Mr. Cleveland is abandoned.

WATTERSON IN LINE.

He Classes Himself as One of Cleveland's Friends.

Chicago, June 22.—Kentucky followed the lead of Indiana and Illinois, and the 26 votes of the Blue Grass state will be cast solidly for Grover Cleveland.

This result was reached at an intensely exciting meeting of the delegation in its headquarters at the Palmer, at which Henry Watterson made one of his famous speeches in which he said that from now henceforth he was for Grover Cleveland, and he hoped the Blue Grass state would be in line when the man of destiny was nominated.

Mr. Watterson said he saw yesterday that the nomination of Mr. Cleveland was inevitable. All his labors in opposition to Mr. Cleveland had been done from the sincere desire to see a winner named, and he had up to a short time ago been convinced that it would be madness to urge Mr. Cleveland's nomination in the face of the fact that a yawning grave would be prepared for him by his enemies in New York.

Mr. Watterson said he counted himself one of the truest friends Grover Cleveland ever had, and it had been to save him from what he thought was sure defeat that he championed the cause of a man who would not be marked for slaughter in the Empire state.

But the last 36 hours had worked a wonderful change, the magic of the ex-president's name had even cast its shell about the solid phalanx of opposition in New York, and the leaders there were retiring sullenly, but backing out of their opposition.

Mr. Watterson eulogized Mr. Whitney, to whom he credited the wonderful campaign made in Mr. Cleveland's interest, and he believed that in the end New York would be brought into line for the nominee, and the solid vote of the grand old Empire state would be cast for Mr. Cleveland. "I propose now and henceforth to work for Mr. Cleveland's nomination," said Mr. Watterson. He ended his speech by a magnificent tribute to the worth and sterling integrity of John G. Carlisle, Kentucky's favorite son.

Just as Mr. Watterson finished his speech the impatient crowd burst open the doors and surged around the perspiring orator. It was a dramatic scene, but Mr. Watterson was waving his hands right and left and quickly elbowed his way out into the open corridors. "Three cheers for Cleveland and Watterson," some one shouted, and they were given with a vim such as only enthusiastic Kentuckians can give expression to. The balance of the delegates came out soon after. All wore smiles of contentment and satisfaction. They hurried away to the convention as the hour of noon was approaching.

"No formal vote was taken as to preference," said John B. Casselman, "but the delegation is without doubt solid for Mr. Cleveland, and he will receive Kentucky's 26 votes solid. Mr. Carlisle has expressed a wish that his name be not presented, and his wish is law with us. Mr. Cleveland will be nominated on the first ballot."

The original purpose of calling the meeting was to settle various committeemen. To the surprise of all, Henry Watterson, who had been slated to serve on the committee on resolutions, declined to accept the place. This action was taken as an indication that Mr. Watterson did not want to be hampered with committee work and desired to be free so as to throw all his energies into the fight for Mr. Cleveland. It was also said that Mr. Watterson would make a speech seconding the nomination of Mr. Cleveland which will be a masterpiece of oratory. Were he on the committee on platform Mr. Watterson would have no time to prepare his speech, and this was also given as a reason for his declination to serve. He will, however, be consulted freely.

The committeemen selected by the meeting were as follows: Chairman, Charles B. Junston; vice-president of the convention, Thomas E. Morse; secretary, H. S. Sullivan; permanent organization, John B. Casselman; platform, James A. McKenzie; credentials, Charles H. Rhodes; national committeeman, Thos. H. Sherley.

THE TAIL OF THE TICKET.

There Will be a Pleasant Scramble for Second Place

Chicago, June 22.—The Illinois delegation is not at all satisfied with the adoption of the unit rule, but an attempt by the New York men to break it by offering a combination of Slocum and Morrison has not met with sufficient favor to warrant the belief that the action of the delegation will be rescinded before the first ballot is taken.

If the first ballot does not nominate, the Illinois men may hold another caucus and rescind their agreement to vote for Cleveland.

Not only are the Illinois men restive about the unit rule, but they are displeased with the combination believed to have been made by the Cleveland managers on Gray for vice president.

Illinois has two favorite sons who are candidates for the vice presidency. One of them is a very dark horse—Hon. Lambert Tree. The other—Hon. Adlai E. Stevenson, has been exploited for some time as a good man for second place in case the presidency went to the east.

The friends of Mr. Cleveland were fearful of the trouble that other delegations would make if they thought the support of Indiana was gained through a trade, and they have denied constantly that there is any agreement for the nomination of Gray.

It seems possible that if they have made a trade they will not be able to deliver the goods even if Mr. Cleveland is nominated.

There will be several candidates for the second place and if Mr. Cleveland is nominated on the first ballot as his friends still profess to believe that he will be, there will still be a fight over the vice presidency which will make the convention lively.

Michigan will put up Judge Morse; Illinois, Mr. Stevenson, and California, Congressman Geary. Then Boies, of Iowa, is a strong possibility, although his supporters now refuse to cohsider his availability for any but the first place.

TOWARD THE WIGWAM.

The Thousand of People Made an Early Start.

The Wigwam, Chicago, June 22.—For the first time since the delegates arrived in Chicago the sun shone out this morning from a cloudless sky.

It promised a hot day in the wigwam, but even heat was to be preferred to the uncertainty of wind and rain in the big shanty by the lake.

More rain fell last night and even the brightness of the morning did not free the hall from the damoness which permeated it yesterday. It brightened the interior of the big building though and made it a much more cheerful place.

The fact that many of the tickets to the hall were not presented yesterday became generally known and the proposition to admit uniformed clubs to the vacant place started a report that at the session to-day the hall might be thrown open to the public.

The crowd along Michigan avenue therefore began to assume large proportions even before the doors of the building were thrown open, and at 10 o'clock there were thousands congregated in the roadway and along the sidewalks.

The police with difficulty kept a passage clear for the holders of tickets. The uncertainty of their position made the unelect curious, and the badge wearers as they appeared were stopped and questioned anxiously about the prospects of admission.

There was a story in circulation that arrangements had been made with the Tammany leaders to admit the uniformed "braves" with or without tickets. Such stories invariably follow the distribution of tickets to a great gathering where the arbitrary disposition of these favors is in the hands of a small body of men.

The same story went out at Minneapolis. But the clique in the galleries there did not control the nomination and the leaders know that shouting is not going to change the result in Chicago.

There is the customary ill feeling, however, over the assignment of tickets.

When the convention hour approached it was evident that while the hall might not be filled the vacancies of yesterday would not be duplicated today.

To-day there were rumors of a possible contest between the Cleveland and anti-Cleveland forces and it was said on the authority of the friends of Mr. Cleveland that it was even possible that the nominating speeches would be made and a ballot taken before night. The audience was much more lively, therefore, and the seats began to fill an hour before the convention time.

OHIO BREAKS.

Only Fifteen Votes to be Cast for Cleveland on the First Ballot.

Chicago, June 22.—The Ohio delegation has decided its position on the first ballot. Fifteen votes will be cast for Cleveland, and 31 for any combination to beat Cleveland. The decision was arrived at after a heated discussion.

HARD AT WORK.

The Resolutions Committee Hold an Interesting Session.

Chicago, June 22.—It was nearing midnight before the platform committee adjourned, and then their labors were far from complete. A draft of the platform submitted by Hon. C. H. Jones, of St. Louis, had twice been taken up section by section in committee of the whole and amendments and substitutes for the different party had been piled up till the council table around which sat the members of the committee was heaped a foot high with manuscript.

Half in despair the committee resigned to a subcommittee the task of bringing order out of chaos. This subcommittee was made up as follows: Jones, of Missouri; Vilas, Wisconsin; Daniel, Virginia; Thompson, California; Russell, Massachusetts; Patterson, Colorado; Bayard, Delaware; McPherson, New Jersey; Sewell, Maine.

The subcommittee was instructed to report the result of their midnight labors to the full committee at 10 o'clock tomorrow.

The protracted sitting beginning with hearing of the world's fair delegation and followed by the advocates of the Nicaraguan canal was under the chairmanship of Hon. C. H. Jones, of St. Louis. Mr. Jones succeeded ex-Secretary of State Bayard as presiding officer on the suggestion of Mr. Bayard himself. It was said that Mr. Cleveland's ex-postmaster general, Gen. Dickerson, of Massachusetts, had personally recommended that Mr. Jones he thus honored, and this, with the fact that the distinguished Missourian was known to have given the subject of the platform careful study, made the propriety of his selection clearly apparent.

Interest centered chiefly in what would be done as to silver. Don Dickinson was active in this direction, and intrusted to the Michigan representative on the committee a plank which was understood to represent the most liberal ideas that would be subscribed to by the supporters of Mr. Cleveland. It favored a bi-metallic standard and opposed any discrimination in favor of either metal and the placing of any burden upon either. The plank omitted any mention of free coinage, the silver cancusmen in the committee had three separate planks varying in their radical nature, of which they proposed to get into the platform the strongest that the committee would stand. One was a free coinage plank out and out. Of this the westerner had little hope. The other two were substantially the same; but one was more conservatively worded than the other. They condemned the demonetization of silver and advocated the restoration of it equal to the place occupied by gold.

Nearly a dozen other resolutions on the subject were introduced at one time or another during the evening. Chairman Jones' silver plank was said to be an ingeniously contrived compromise, declaring in favor of an honest dollar and conceding to the silver sentiment all that the republican Minneapolis platform did. This, however, did not by any means satisfy the pronounced silver men, though the wrath which they have been nursing was not a little curbed by it. The plank was expressively summed up by Senator Daniel of West Virginia, as "shining in several directions."

The silver men, notably their leader, Patterson, of Colorado, were disposed to be diplomatic and not belligerent, for the time being at least.

Besides silver, world's fair and Nicaraguan canal, a number of other important interests were given a hearing. The woman suffragists, represented by Susan B. Anthony, Rev. Olympia Brown, Mrs. Jane A. McKinney and Laura Gordon, presented the memorials and addresses which had been laid before the platform committee of the republican national committee and ignored. Henry Downing, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and R. W. Christian, of Pennsylvania, two prominent colored men, pleaded for the insertion of a plank disapproving of mob law.

Mississippi river improvement had strong supporters in the persons of Webb M. Samuels, Frank Gaiennie and J. B. Denver, of the Merchants' Exchange of St. Louis. They forcibly urged the adoption of the following, the first portion of which is a reaffirmation of the democratic national platform of 1888.

"The federal government should care and improve the Mississippi river and other great waterways of the republic, so as to secure for the interior states easy and cheap transportation to the tidewater. We believe that when any waterway of the republic is of sufficient importance to demand the aid of the government, that such aid should be extended on a definite plan of continuous work until permanent improvement is secured.

Anti-convict and anti-imported pauper labor planks were also placed before the committee.

Altogether the two secretaries, Hon. Lewis Baker, of St. Paul, and A. P. Hyde, of Connecticut, had their hands full in looking after the immense mass of documents and memoranda entrusted to their care.

Immediately after the conclusion of the hearing Chairman Jones presented a platform, prepared in detail, for the consideration of the committee. It was read to the members and in the main seemed to meet the approval of the committee. The preamble of this platform arraigns the republican party for its tendency to the centralization of the governing power in the hands of the favored few and denounces the force bill as a means by which it is sought to maintain the republican party in power by the suppression of the free and honest will of the people as expressed at the ballot box.

"We favor a reform of the tariff," says the platform, "and a reduction of the import duties to a basis with protection only to such industries as require it for the protection of American workingmen."

On the financial and other important questions the platform says: We denounce the Sherman loan of 1890 and demand its unconditional repeal, and we favor the free coinage of both gold and silver on such a basis as will maintain the two metals on a parity with each other.

We denounce all trusts and combinations which have grown up and been fostered under the pernicious and class legislation of the republican party and demand their regulation and suppression by legislation.

We congratulate the democratic party for that modern and more efficient navy which had its birth under the last democratic administration, and we favor all applications necessary for the reasonable increase and proper maintenance of this navy and for the protection of our seaboards.

Denunciation of the Republican Party.

We denounce that policy of the republican party which by oppressive legislation has resulted in the gradual impoverishment of the farmer, and we arraign the republican party as an enemy to the agricultural classes as well as the foe of organized labor. (Here follows statistics in detail showing the gradual depreciation of the value of farm products and the increase in mortgage indebtedness of farm lands throughout the union.)

We reaffirm the old-time democratic doctrine of reciprocity of reciprocal trade relations with foreign powers and denounce the reciprocity pretensions of the republican party as a subterfuge designed to mislead and deceive.

The platform also denounced the "jingo" policy of the republican party and declared the present administration, in its foreign relations, to be an oppressor of the weak and a truckler to the powerful. The Fifty-first congress was arraigned for the extravagance of its appropriations and for the enactment of that legislation for conduous appropriations which renders it impossible for the democratic house of representatives to make the necessary radical reduction in the expenditures of the government.

Probably the most important plank in the whole platform, submitted by Chairman Jones, related to the school question, and is destined to be a burning issue in the state of Illinois and Wisconsin, where that question is now an issue. The plank was amended slightly at the suggestion of Hon. Clayton E. Crafts, speaker of the Illinois house of representatives and the Illinois member of the committee, and as subsequently recommended to the subcommittee on formulation is as follows:

"We commend the common school system which had its birth under democratic administration and has stood the test of many years of practical operation, and declare in favor of freedom of education and for that right of the parent to control the teaching of his child which is necessary to maintain civil and religious liberty."

There seems little doubt that this resolution will be incorporated in the platform, either literally or in substance. Its natural interpretation as a quasi-denunciation of past legislation in the states of Illinois and Wisconsin, is relied upon as an effective means of attracting the Lutheran and other sectarian votes in those states.

It is quite probable the financial plank of Chairman Jones' platform will be somewhat modified and the committee received with marked favor the following resolution to-day adopted by the conference of the silver state delegations and introduced in the committee by one of their representatives.

"We denounce the demonetization of silver by the fraudulent legislation of a republican congress in 1873, as a crime against the people and one of the long line of acts by which that party has systematically taken the money and property of the country from the producers and toilers for the benefit of the capitalists and creditor classes.

We therefore demand the immediate repeal of all laws discriminating against the coinage of silver on equality with gold and demand the restoration of silver to the position and full legal status occupied by it from the foundation of the government until its demonetization.

On the call of members for suggestions, various additional resolutions were introduced. One of these demands the repeal of the 10 per cent. tax on state banks, so as to enable state banks to compete with national banks, and another disposes of the vexed question of liquor legislation as follows:

"We denounce the resort to unconstitutional laws in several of the states for the purpose of suppressing evils by interfering with the rights of the people which they have not surrendered to either the state or national government."

The following resolution presented by the committee of colored men is quite likely to be one of those reported by the committee, as its adoption is generally favored by the southern members:

"We declare in favor of the equal rights of all citizens to protection under the laws from violent punishment for crimes charged."

A half dozen world's fair planks were introduced in addition to the one presented by the world's fair delegation. One specifically recommended congress to vote an appropriation of a loan sufficient to enable the exposition to pay proper awards on all exhibits and was introduced by McKensie, of Kentucky, who is also a member of the national world's fair commission.

The Hatch anti-option bill was approved and its passage urged in a resolution presented by Mr. Garrard, of Georgia, and another southern member threw out the flag of truce to the people's party and farmer organizations generally for their victorious assaults in several states upon the republican party for its vicious class legislation which made the rich richer and the poor poorer.

Mr. Fiedler, of New Mexico, presented the following resolution on the financial question and it was later referred to the sub-committee with instructions to consider it together with one contained in Chairman Jones', and that presented by the silver states.

We believe gold and silver to be the metal money of this constitution and we denounce the demonetization of silver by the republican party and demand the reenaction of the laws which maintained the parity of gold and silver at our mints for 80 years.

The platform of Chairman Jones, as approved by the committee and the above the additional resolution which met with popular favor, were referred to the sub-committee of nine with instructions to revise and report for approval to the main committee at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

DROPPED THE FIGHT.

The Syracuse Delegates Will Not Contest in the Convention.

Chicago, June 22.—There was a hot time and bitter words exchanged at the meeting of the committee on credentials before Mr. Frederick R. Coudert could get a hearing for the purpose of withdrawing the pro forma contest instituted by the Syracuse delegates, and the Syracuse convention supporters heard themselves called bolters, mugwumps and other hard names, and had their democracy impugned and their method of presenting the contest called "smuggling."

The scene was exciting, and several times feeling ran so high that an explosion was imminent, but Chairman Lamb kept the committee well in hand, and refusing to recognize proceedings calculated to create grave dissension, put things through in short order.

It was announced that the resolutions had been adopted at the request of signers of a letter who represented 35 states, and appealed for harmony and the withdrawal of the contest as likely to create bitterness and dissension which would militate against success in November. It is understood that this letter was prepared and sent to the Syracuse delegation at their request, as they desired not to push the contest under the circumstances. The signers are not given, and at the meeting one of the opposition intimated very clearly his belief that 35 states in the democratic convention had made the request.

The committee then took up some district contests.

INSIDE WORKING.

Tammany Tells About the Gorman Combination

Chicago, June 22.—The New York delegation is clinging this morning to a last desperate hope of defeating the nomination of Grover Cleveland.

They are seeking to unite the opposition on some new candidate and they think they will succeed. They wanted to take Campbell, but the ex-governor still refused to allow his name to be used. Many of them would be satisfied with Boies or Morrison, but the name most frequently heard in connection with the possibility of a new combination is that of Gen. Henry W. Slocum, of New York.

Gorman, the New Yorkers will have nothing to do with.

The New York delegates are very indignant with the Maryland senator whom they charge with having broken their combination against Cleveland two days ago, after encouraging them to believe that he would stand by them.

They talk freely about Mr. Gorman and tell some of the inside history of the Gorman movement of Sunday and its relation to the Hill movement. Mr. Gorman they say encouraged the Hill leaders in New York to call the mid-winter convention. Mr. Gorman promised that the Maryland convention should be held soon after the convention at Albany. It was part of the policy of the anti-Cleveland people to weaken the strength of Cleveland through the country by having his state instruct for Hill and by following this with an anti-Cleveland convention in Maryland which has always been a Cleveland stronghold.

Mr. Gorman, the Hill men say, broke faith in this and did not have the Maryland convention called until almost every other convention in the country had been held.

Two weeks ago Mr. Gorman met Senator Hill, Mr. Murphy and Mr. Sheehan in New York. This meeting was chronicled in the papers, but no statement was made public of what had been done. The Hill men say the meeting was held at the instance of Mr. Gorman to consider the opposition to Cleveland.

Mr. Gorman urged Mr. Hill and his friends to make the fight against Cleveland at Chicago and promised them his support. He intended at that time to remain in the east; but Mr. Hill urged him to go to Chicago and he finally consented to do so.

Arriving here, he continued to confer with the Hill people and at one of those conferences held last Sunday he, it is claimed, authorized them to use his name in the effort to form a combination against Cleveland.

All of this, they say, they have now discovered was for the purpose of furthering the selfish ambition of Mr. Gorman. When they laid before Mr. Gorman the result of their canvass, showing that with his name they could prevent the nomination of Mr. Cleveland on the first ballot, they did not show enough strength to assure Mr. Gorman the nomination and he thereupon repudiated the whole arrangement and went into the Cleveland camp.

Mr. Gorman's side of the question has not been stated in full but his friends in the Maryland delegation have given out since the canvass of Monday the statement that he refused to permit his name to be used and that his refusal was because he believed that it was to be put up only for the purpose of beating Mr. Cleveland.

The policy of the anti-Cleveland leaders, it is announced, will be a policy of delay. They will fight everything in the convention to-day, it is said, with the idea of deferring the first ballot until to-morrow, when they hope to have their forces in better order.

They succeeded last night in getting in sub-committee of the committee on rules a report against the unit rule. The announcement of this fact created a sensation when it came out. It filled the Cleveland men with surprise and apprehension. They realized later, though, that the rules of the convention are made by a simple majority and not a two-thirds majority of the convention and that whether the full committee sustained the action of the sub-committee or not, the report would be beaten in the convention.

But they realized, also, that the fight on the unit rule might be prolonged and bitter, and not only would delay the balloting but would concentrate the anti-Cleveland forces so as to show their full strength on a poll of the convention.

If this vote should show less than two-thirds for Cleveland it would be a contradiction of the claims of Mr. Whitney and Mr. Dickinson, and would give to the opposition the confidence which it has lacked.

Attorney-General Hensel of Pennsylvania, said after the meeting: "They caught us napping in the sub-committee and the matter went practically by default. Most of those present were Hill men. The report to the general committee is to be made at 9 o'clock this morning and we shall overthrow the work of the sub-committee."

LOYAL JIMMY CAMPBELL.

He Will Not be a Party to Any Scheme to Defeat Cleveland.

Chicago, June 22.—(Special)—The opposition to Cleveland shows signs of desperation. Hill counsels a combination and Tammany is at work again.

Because Gov. Campbell was seemingly slighted in the selection of the permanent chairman of the convention, the opposition seize the opportunity of working upon his grievance, and are now trying to push him for the presidency.

The Ohio delegation agree to support him if the movement assumes encouraging proportions. For all the world it is a repitition of the Minneapolis farce. With the disastrous experience of McKinley's defeat before him, it hardly seems possible that white-headed Jimmy Campbell will now lose his head.

It is too late to form combinations; no power in this convention can prevent the nomination of Grover Cleveland.

No matter what one thinks of the expediency of the nomination it is settled and the party and the convention can't get away from it.

Later—Gov. Campbell positively refuses to allow his name to be used as a club to hit Cleveland, and will have nothing to do with the snappers and combines.

He is first, last and all the time for Cleveland.

Among other states represented in the gain are Arkansas and Kentucky. Mr. Whitney stated that there had been no conclusion reached as to the vice-presidential candidate.

THE KARNIVAL.

More than a hundred of Toledo's beautiful young ladies, costumed to represent as many different business houses in the city, gave a most novel entertainment at Wheeler's opera house last night, under the auspices and for the benefit of the Ladies' society of Westminster church. The costumes were all very artistic and effective. The special displays were very fine, and every figure was heartily applauded. The grand march was executed without a single mistake. The march and all tableaux were given under a strong calcum light.

The singing of "John Brown's Body" was a catchy feature of the program. The lower part of the house was well filled, and many persons in the audience remarked that it was the finest local entertainment ever given in Toledo.

Prof. Beisel, under whose management the Karnival is given, is certainly an expert in this line. The entertainment will be repeated this evening.

NEAR THE CLOSE OF SCHOOL

Principal Camp Gives Some Valuable Advise.

"A Stitch in Time Saves Nine"—Fearful Condition of a Connecticut Superintendent of Schools—The Debt of Gratitude that is Due a Dartmouth Professor.

The former pupils of Principal L. L. Camp, of Dwight school, in New Haven, Conn., are scattered all over the country. Many of them occupy responsible positions in business and professional life, which they feel they have won in a large measure through the early instruction and training received from Principal Camp.

Probably Mr. Camp has given no advice that is more valuable in the nearly two score years which he has labored in educational fields than that contained in the following letter to Wells & Richardson Co. He wrote:

"I have taken several bottles of Paine's celery compound this spring, not because I was sick, but because I wanted to keep well. I believe in keeping well and can do it best by the use of this helper of nature."

The close of school is near at hand. Vacation season is almost upon us. Teachers, parents and children should see that the nervous system is strong and vigorous. Follow Principal Camp's example and keep well by the use of the pure medicine that he took.

The superintendent of schools in Naugatuck, Conn., Mr. Wm. W. Abbott, a Yale graduate, had an experience that exemplifies the marvellous power of Paine's celery compound to restore those who are in the depths of disease and misery. He has written for publication the following statement, under date of May 29:

"A year ago this spring a combination of circumstances conspired to undermine my health, and last fall the confinement to the school room and attention to discipline attacked what little health I had left, so that by Christmas I was physically a wreck. I had no ambition to do anything; I felt unable to move and was truly miserable, and each day I thought that it would probably be the last that I should leave my bed. It was only by the exercise of the greatest will power that I could hold up my head. When I was so low I was advised to try Paine's celery compound, and did so. After taking one bottle I was uncertain whether I was really deriving benefit or not. After using the second bottle, however, I found that my health was certainly improved. I have now taken four bottles, and my restoration to strength and health is due entirely to the use of this medicine."

The best physicians unite in the statement that Paine's celery compound is of superior value for the weak and debilitated, the nervous, sleepless and all who are run down. It makes people well, gives them new strength and new life. It is pure and harmless, and hence is used in hundreds of families for the children and the aged. In hot, debilitating weather it is particularly valuable.

NON-PARTISAN RALLY

In the First Congregational Church Parlors.

Mrs Phinney, the National President, Addressed the Meeting This Morning.

In the parlors of the First Congregational church this morning, the ladies of the non-partisan W. C. T. U. met to welcome their national president, Mrs. Phinney, of Cleveland, and formulate plans for temperance work and the advancement of non-partisan temperance unions in Toledo. The meeting opened with a hymn, Mrs. Farrar at the piano. Mrs. Mixer led in an earnest prayer and Mrs. McGlone read the scripture lesson, after which there were temperance songs by the choir.

At 10:30 Mrs. Phinney arrived and addressed the meeting, giving a very interesting account of the work the temperance unions of Cleveland are doing among the foreign population, especially among the Bohemians.

Miss Ingersoll, of Cleveland, and Miss Josie Zimions the Bohemian home missionary, are expected to arrive this afternoon and will deliver addresses.

The program as printed in the Bee will be carried out and a general good time enjoyed.

AN EXCEPTION!

To the rule that competition for cheapness and competition for excellence are always strangers. You are aware that the bulk of spring clothing is sold before the Fourth of July. The reason why we can sell you fine custom-made clothing very much cheaper than what is designated as ready made clothing requires no vivid imagination to understand. The custom tailors show good judgment when they send us uncalled-for garments for less in some cases than the cost of the material. They consider the first loss the best. They do not desire to carry any made-up garments over, anticipating a better price next spring (a year from now. Ready cash is what they want. There appears to be no end to the amount they are sending us daily. Our trade justifies us in still receiving these rare bargains. We shall offer this week for $15.00.

Before and After.

How's Your Liver?

Is the Oriental salutation, knowing that good health cannot exist without a healthy Liver. When the Liver is torpid the Bowels are sluggish and constipated, the food lies in the stomach undigested, poisoning the blood; frequent headache ensues; a feeling of lassitude, despondency and nervousness indicate how the whole system is deranged. Simmons Liver Regulator has been the means of restoring more people to health and happiness by giving them a healthy Liver than any agency known on earth. It acts with extraordinary power and efficacy.

NEVER BEEN DISAPPOINTED.

As a general family remedy for dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Constipation, etc., I hardly ever use anything else, and have never been disappointed in the effect produced; it seems to be almost a perfect cure for all diseases of the Stomach and Bowels.

AN IMPORTANT CASE

Decided in Common Pleas Court To-day.

The Right of the State of Ohio to Give a Deed for Certain Property—An Appeal Will Follow.

Judge Harmon, in common pleas court, this morning decided a very important case, involving the title to property on the Maumee river.

The property in question is known as Grassy Point, opposite Presque Isle.

Under treaty made with the Indians in 1833 a tract of 80 acres was granted to a Frenchman named Leon Guion. This was surveyed off by the United States government, the eastern boundary being fixed by certain stakes and marks on the bank of the Maumee river.

Grassy Point contains about 40 acres of land and marsh, and lying in front of the Guion tract and between that and the navagable waters of the river, was claimed by the state as canal lands under an act of congress, and was sold by the United States and deed given to purchaser in 1836. The contest was between the parties now holding under the Guion treaty on one side, and the holders under the title granted by the state.

The principal point in dispute was whether the Guion title carried the title to the middle of the river.

After a full discussion by W. S. Thurston and E. D. Potter, jr., for the plaintiff, and C. W. Everett and Charles Pratt for the defendant, the court held that the Guion title extended to the channel of the river, and quieted that title as against parties now claiming to hold title to the property conveyed by the state.

The court held that the Guion title was the older of the two and was bounded upon the river, and that the state of Ohio could neither claim nor convey any title to the property lying in front of it. The case is an important one and will be appealed to the circuit court at once.

SHE HEEDED HIS WORDS.

"Remember, dear," said the venerable father, as he sent his youngest and most petted daughter away to boarding-school, "that all my hopes are now centered on you. "I will, father," replied the weeping girl, and the train bore her away.

Will it be believed that three years later that girl married a man who bore the villianous name of Gandershanks?—Chicago Tribune.

FINISH UP.

The Councilmen's Adjourned Session.

The board of councilmen held a short session last evening and finished the business of the week. The most important matter before them was the resolution fixing the salary of the gas trustees at $600 per year. This had been referred back from the aldermen, who refused to concur in the amendment, and on motion of Mr. Neuendorf the matter was laid over for two weeks.

A petition was presented from Mr. Charles A. Dorr stating that he intends to start an ambulance and fine patrol service and asking for the free use of the old engine house on Water street. No action was taken.

B. A. STEVENS TALKS

Regarding the Manner in Which Cincinnati Firms Steal Patents.

B. A. Stevens, speaking to a Bee this morning regarding I. D. Smead's troubles in the matter of infringements on his patents, said: "Cincinnati is notorious for the unsurpassed, unspotted nerve shown by some of its concerns in stealing patents. In fact Cincinnati is notorious in this respect. There are firms there that will use another's patents and have no compunctions about it at all. They flaunt their actions in your face with brazen bravado. Many of my patents are being used by Cincinnati firms. To protect myself I would have to go into long, tedious and expensive litigation. Edison has said that in these days the issuing of a patent is merely a notification to a thief that you have something to steal."

CUSHING'S SALE

Was a Pronounced Success—Most of the Lots go the First Day.

The Cushing special sale of Leap Year lots is a success beyond measure. Yesterday was the first day and it was simply impossible to accommodate the crowd. There were over 2,000 people present and lots went like hot cakes, to use an expression of the day.

Out of the 48 lots to be sold, there were 34 of them disposed of yesterday and there was demand for three times that many, if there had been enough lots, to supply, locations desired. The sales of yesterday amounted to $25,000.

THE EPWORTH LEAGUES

Decide to Form a Union City Organization.

A union social of all the Methodist young peoples' societies of Toledo was held last evening at St. Paul's church. After a short musical program, the president of each Epworth league gave a short address in answer to the question: "Is a city Epworth league desirable?" All the leagues were found to be in favor of such a union, and it was therefore decided that the city league should be formed. The organization will be effected July 13, when delegates from the several Epworth leagues will meet for that purpose. It was also decided that the young Methodists of the city have an excursion to Lakeside July 22, which is "Epworth League Day" at that popular resort.

THE WARN HEIRS.

A Suit Filed in Common Pleas Court to Recover Property.

A petition involving allegations of quite sensational proportions was filed in common pleas court to-day.

The action is instituted by Ideal Council of National Union, against Aletta H. Warn, Zorah I. Warn and Monroe C. Warn.

The petition states that in April, 1892, the plaintiff procured a judgment in common pleas court against the defendant, Monroe C. Warn, and a levy was made against certain real estate in the sum of $1,022.50, and costs.

The petition avers that the defendant conveyed the property to the other defendants. The court is asked to declare the conveyance null and void.

A PIONEER DEAD.

Ex-Alderman Owens Passes Peacefully Away.

Ex-Alderman Patrick Owens, one of the best known and most highly respected of Toledo's pioneers, died last evening at his home, 322 Wisconsin street

The deceased was born in the County Rosconmon, Ireland, 83 years ago, and settled in Toledo in the early fifties.

Mr. Owens was a man of sterling honesty and great energy. For a number of years he represented the Eighth ward in the board of aldermen. In public, as in private, he was upright, honest and sincere, and his great kindness of heart made him hosts of warm personal friends who will learn of his death with sorrow.

Patrick H. Owens, the well-known livery man, and John J. are sons of the deceased. He has also a daughter—a nun in the convent at Syracuse, and whose presence at the funeral is expected.

The funeral occurs from St. Patrick's church at 9 a. m. Friday.

SINGING IN THE SCHOOLS.

Advancement Noticed at All of the Buildings.

Of the several special branches embraced within the present splendid public school system of Toledo, singing is one that is more generally participated in, and its advantages more directly appreciated in the hundreds of homes over the city.

The improvement over the old haphazard, right-or-wrong manner of singing by the establishment of a thorough system, and the employment of an able musician to conduct the same, has instilled new life into this feature of public school life, and made it an absolute pleasure for all to take part.

There is great satisfaction to a pupil to be able to sing from the notes and know that it is correct. This, and more has been accomplished in the Toledo public schools. The youngest child in the school can sing intelligently from the notes, and the music rendered was never better. The credit for this gratifying state of affairs is greatly due to the earnest endeavors and zealous labors of Prof. Ogden, who has the success of his department at heart, and is exerting every effort to maintain a system so thoroughly begun.

AH THERE, COTTRELL!

Pushing to the Front in Great Shape.

Last evening's Columbus Dispatch has the following with reference to Toledo's Charley Cottrell, who is connected with the secretary of state's office:

The republican state central committee will meet here one week from to-morrow to choose an executive committee for the campaign. Charles Cottrell, of the secretary of state's office, is pushing William Clifford, a young Afro-American of Cleveland, O., for membership of the campaign committee, hoping, it is said, in such a contingency to have Clifford's influence to assist in his retention in the secretary of state's office, in the position he has held for five years. The other Afro-Americans who are candidates for membership of the committee, and who will oppose Cottrell's retention in office, are W. H. Roney, of this city, and Mr. Atwood, of Brown county.

For some reason the fact that Mr Cottrell is backing Clifford is causing a big stir among colored republican leaders, and letters are coming in from different parts of the state in opposition.

Mr. Cottrell states that he is working for Clifford, but as a friend and not for his influence for retention, and that Atwood is one of his best friends.

THE ISABELLA CIRCLE.

Considered the History of the Aztecs at the Meeting Yesterday.

Mrs. Rowland Russell extended her hospitality yesterday afternoon to the Toledo Isabella circle. Among her guests were several visiting strangers, Miss Clark, of New York, Mrs. O. A. Browning's guest; Mrs. Fannie Segur Foster, of Dallas, and some Philadelphia visitors of Mrs. Rogers', of East Toledo. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. R. L. Segur. Mrs. S. Alice Richardson secretary, who was also essayist of the day.

The Aztecs was the subject under consideration, Mrs. Richardson presenting a clear, terse, romantic portraiture of these aboriginal Americans, whose civilization H. H. Bancroft describes as superior to that of their Spanish conquerors. After delineating their long wanderings during seven centuries up and down California and Colorado, and the monuments still extant of their labors, their settlement of Mexico was described where they found homes, amalgamating with native races, and in many respects evolved a high degree of civilization until the advent of the Spaniards. Their social manners, customs and religion, with its cruelty of human sacrifice, the tyranny of those priestly kings, the Montezumas, and their final overthrow, were briefly sketched, drawing out an animated discussion on the probable origin of these races, so greatly resembling the Egyptians and other oriental peoples. Mrs. James Melvin, Mrs. Geo. E. Lorenz, Mrs. Nellie A. Bacon, Mrs. O. A. Browning, Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. Russell and others taking part in the discussion. Following this, interesting replies to historic questions relating to the history of the Spanish peninsula anterior to the Isabella period were given in conversational manner, furnishing much food for thought touching upon this era.

The meeting adjourned to September, when the fall season will open with a social reunion at Mrs. R. L. Segur's, the program being a conversation upon the first settlements of North America after the Columbian period, to be led by questions. The circle has enjoyed a very pleasant and profitable season in its studies of American history, which it proposes to continue during the quadro-centennial era.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Frederick and Miss Emma Rooney have been elected delegates by the Allen Street Mission Y. P. S. C. E. to the state convention to be held at Akron next week. These delegates will represent one of the most flourishing Endeavor societies in the state of Ohio.

A merry party, chaperoned by Mrs. P. H. Monks, took a ride on the Wilson last evening. In the party were Misses Cole, Grace Gifford, Gertrude Gifford, Minnie McCarthy, Mutchler, Thatcher, Parks, Paine, Keenan, Shrink, Goulet, Wales and Rood, and Messrs. Carl Birkenhauer, Farnsworth, Hoskins, Logan, Heller, Diehl, Crooks, Buckholter, Pheeley, Wilson, Johnson, Hunter, Wolf and Roberts.

About 40 young people enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac D. Smead at their delightful home on Vermont avenue, last evening. The affair was in honor of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Alcorn, who were recently married in the east. Mrs. Alcorn being Mr. Smead's niece. Supper was served at 7 o'clock, after which a most enjoyable evening was spent with dancing, games and other amusements until a late hour. The newly married couple, who presided, were recipients of most hearty congratulations and well wishes for their future happiness and Mr. and Mrs. Smead were voted ideal entertainers.

A very pretty and artistic wedding occurred this morning at 8 o'clock at St. Francis de Sales church when Miss Nellie Brady, of this city, and Mr. J. Kilduff, of Rexville, N. Y., were united in marriage, Rev. Dr. Quigley performed the impressive ceremony. Mrs. F. Machen played a beautiful offertory, and a trio, consisting of Miss Meilink and Messrs. Poulin and Goulet, sang magnificently. The bride, who is a charming lady, was attired in a becoming tan-colored street costume. After the ceremony an elegant wedding breakfast was served at the residence of the bride's parents by Mrs. J. H. Beatty, the caterer, the relatives and intimate friends only being present. Among the guests from abroad were: Mr. and Mrs. B. Coyle, Detroit; Mr. John Brady, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. James Doran, Sandusky; Mr. and Mrs. J. Timmons, Deerfield, Mich., and Mrs. Mary Brady. The Misses Brady and Mrs. Rose Welsh, of Norwalk. Mr. and Mrs. Kilduff left this afternoon for a four weeks' wedding trip, and will, upon their return, take up their residence in Detroit. They have the best wishes and congratulations of a host of friends.

A Marvel in Economics.

The Boston Journal, which is so rabidly partisan it can't enjoy itself at all, even in the midst of heavenly June weather, explains to its readers about the uprising in the Pennsylvania coal and iron region, and why Mr. Carnegie is building a ten-feet-high barricade, capped with lines of barbed wire, around his 800 acres of business property. It is this way, according to the Journal:

Mr. Carnegie has personally testified that the effect of the McKinley law was to give his own industry less protection than it had before. This being the case, if the reduction in wages in his and other Pittsburg establishment is due to the tariff it is due to the reduction of the duties, and instead of furnishing an argument for "tariff reform," it puts a new and potent weapon in the hands of the protectionists. * * * If a comparatively small reduction in the protection of one single industry produces these disastrous results, what would occur if the entire tariff were reduced to a free trade basis? * * * The depression in the iron trade is the fruit of over-production—an evil from which no nation, free trade or protectionist, can hope for absolute immunity.

For mercy's sake! good legislators, don't knock off any more fraction of cents' duty; the whole country will collapse like a mighty balloon. Be warned by this dreadful trouble that is come upon Mr. Carnegie, of Pennsylvania. His profits of a couple of years have enabled him to buy one of the largest copper mines in Michigan and to build a magnificent monument for himself in New York, and there is nothing left to do but to cut the wages of his workmen 20 per cent., in order to keep his head above water. Poor Mr. Carnegie; the Journal sounds the alarm and every person in the country should willingly pay more tribute on plows, mowers, reapers, sewing machines, rails—anything and everything made of iron, copper or steel, to help him out. If the demand for these goods isn't what is desired, some bonus should be paid from the people's treasury to keep Mr. Carnegie's coach and four going. It would hardly seem that a man able to do the above-mentioned things, needed more governmental protection. John Jones, of Jonesville, who raises onions and asparagus, expects to stand the fluctuations of the market. So do millions more in like situations, but these Pennsylvania iron barons must be taken care of.

On the new tariff schedule are over seventy descriptions of iron and copper ore and wrought iron and steel, taxed all the way from 80 per cent. down to 1-10 of a cent per pound. There are 140 descriptions of cast iron and steel, and goods manufactured of iron, copper and steel, on the tax list—for instance: a certain grade of files are taxed $2 a dozen; razors, $1.75 per doz.; table knives from 35 per cent. to $2 a dozen for carving knives; and 30 per cent. and $5 a dozen for extras; shot guns, certain grade, $6 each. Every yard of wire of every degree of size, every nail, carpet tack, knitting needle, crochet needle and cambric needle is taken care of.

These are specimens of how inadequate the McKinley law is to meet the exigencies of the case for the poor iron mongers, who have met with "such disastrous results," consequent upon a "comparatively small reduction of tariff."

The cap-sheaf of the Journal's ridiculousness, is in the last paragraph—"overproduction." Over stimulation has brought about stagnation and the Journal prescribes more stimulation in the shape of still higher tariff.

The Boston man should set up a school in political economy.

A Precious Pair.

The New York Sun and the Mail and Express are a pretty good pair to offset each other. The Sun said, Sunday:

The democrats of the Empire state are heartily and enthusiastically united.

It also says:

All over the world New York city has a reputation for generosity.

And avers with the emphasis of repetition, that:

Cleveland is a painfully commonplace man outside of cheap sensationalism.

And on the same page it calls down a local poet, a "valued citizen," who writes:

"At any rate I'll do my part
To down the Chauncey M. Depews;
To this I consecrate the art
Of my untrammelled, virgin muse."

It soberly says:

We cannot understand it. We esteem the distinguished president of the New York Central as a model American; and we advise the man of Cohoes and all the rest of mankind to study his character and history more carefully before engaging in any consecration of art aiming to lay him low.

Extremes meet: the wicked Dana and the pious Shepard almost join hands.

Saturday's issue of the Mail and Express was as guiltless of "Chicago" talk, as if such a thing as a democrat convention was never heard of. It goes right on with its "magnificent opening of the campaign" without a democrat in it. This is crushing; almost as bad as the Sun's too effusive attention. Even its first page caricature goes off and illustrates the city of New York pouring dollars down before Oil City and Titusville in such piles, the scantily draped dames are hustling to get their bare feet out of the way lest they be crushed with the shower of coin. Dana and Shepard are a precious pair of political editors. They may do for New York, but they would be out of place anywhere else on the continent.

Similitudes and Contracts.

There were some similitudes between the conditions and situations of men at the opening of the two conventions. It was the national machine against Blaine and the people at Minneapolis, and the New York machine against Cleveland and the people at Chicago. Gov. McKinley and ex-Governor Campbell are the popular Ohioans of whom it is said they were too loyal to permit the prize to be thought of in connection with themselves. This was unquestionably true in ex-Governor Campbell's case. The suave and slick Depew, in the matter of peaceful influence and good feeling, may be paired with the popular, generous and enthusiastic Whitney. Clarkson and Croker might be matched, but for Foraker and Quay we have no match, thank goodness. Nor had republicans any noble Palmer to turn the tide into its natural channel and give the keynote for unity and harmony. Here all similitude ends; the rest has been sharp contrast, and will continue to be. The Minneapolis convention was an uproar, a bedlam, a war to the knife affair. The Chicago convention has been dignified, deliberative, statesmanlike. The campaign will be an aggressive one for the democracy with the mighty, underlying principles of good and honest government, the issue.

The next day after the Minneapolis convention, an administration organ proclaimed, editorially, that "there has been a visible improvement in trade in many directions since the nomination." It has become so much the custom for the republicans to claim that whatever happens of good report is due to the operation of the McKinley law and whatever comes, adverse, is the result of natural causes, there is nothing surprising about the above declaration, but it is quite amusing.

Boston Herald:

The Ohio man is trying hard to make a profound impression in Chicago.

The Ohio man doesn't try to make an impression, dear Herald. In the slang vernacular of the day "he doesn't have to." He simply "moves in a mysterious way" and the impression follows.

It's sad, but true. The Baline men weren't indorsing the ticket very unanimously. Even the Grand Army hasn't jubilated out loud.

According to the New York Recorder, England is busy writing the platform for the democracy at Chicago.

"If Mr. Depew accepts the portfolio of state," but Mr. D—p— says it has not been offered him.

Somehow Tom Platt doesn't get into harmony.

The Blade's "special" men ought to get together. One wrote to his paper "the wigwam is hot, steaming, unsafe. It will either collapse and endanger men's lives or they will die of suffocation. * * * The convention is like Dante's Inferno, only worse than anything the ancient poets ever imagined or described."

The other said, "the wigwam is cool, roomy, strong and well-arranged. The excitement of drums, banners and the like, is not what it was at Minneapolis." All depends on how you view it, perhaps, and on the age, experience and condition of mind of the beholder.

THE PAINTING RUINED

At the Cyclorama Building by a Caving Bank.

The Mass of Earth Crushes Through the Wall and Rips the Picture for a Distance of Fifty Feet.

The big painting of the Battle of Gettysburg at the Cyclorama building is a wreck.

The heavy rains recently caused the the bank to cave in the rear of the new house near the corner of Tenth and Jefferson streets, and the mass of dirt swept down with sufficient force to crush in the wall of the Cyclorama building for a distance of 30 feet.

The big hole in the wall was made as clean as if it had been done with a saw.

The picture is ruined completely, ripped and torn for a distance of 50 feet. The tear is not from top to bottom, but lengthways.

It will be impossible to put it together again in any kind of shape, as many of the principal figures and scenes are baly mutilated.

The big painting is owned in Chicago and was valued originally at about $40,000. It was only rented by the Toledo company.

Secretary Lang of the company says as yet he does not know who will have to bear the loss.

He thinks the painting was insured against fire by the owners, but whether or not it was against accident of another nature he does not know.

The cyclorama will of necessity have to close its doors.

TO LIVE AT LOON LAKE.

Loon Lake, N. Y., June 22.—President Harrison has engaged a cottage at Loon Lake, in the Adirondacks, for the summer.

CURRENT COMMENT.

The story goes that when asked at Minneapolis to name the candidate for vice president, Quay politely declined with this amiable remark: "I don't care to play assistant undertaker at this funeral." He won't be chief mourner in November, either.—Wheeling Register.

Never before has a president of the United States made so flagrant an abuse of his official power to secure a renomination, and as the representative of a horde of officeholders Benjamin Harrison well deserves the stinging rebuke which will be administered to him in November by the people of the United States.—Montgomery Register.

Mr. Harrison made a characteristic speech to the friends who gathered to congratulate him on his nomination. He apologized humbly for not having offices enough to go round among all who had "deserved" them by working for his election, but insisted that he did the best he could. We think the president's apology should be accepted.—Memphis Commercial.

If Grover Cleveland is nominated at Chicago—which seems as certain as anything in the future can be—Tammany will support him because it will not dare to do anything else. It might enjoy killing the ex-president if that process did not involve the contingency of political suicide, but that consideration will give pause to its treacherous inclinations.—Kansas City Star.

We do not place a great deal of confidence in this Tammany manifesto. It sounds very much like the fulminations of John Kelly in 1884. Kelly went home swearing mad at Cleveland, but he made a deal and turned in for the ticket. Tammany will do the same this year if Cleveland is nominated. This preliminary sparring is only to make the deal on better terms after the convention in the now probable event of Cleveland's nomination.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The recent decision of the supreme court of Michigan upholding the validity of the Miner law renders it almost certain that the electoral vote of that state will be divided at the coming election. It is true an appeal is to be prosecuted to the supreme court of the United States, but, while it is never safe to be too sure what a court is going to decide, it is hardly conceivable that the supreme court will disturb the decision of the state court.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Telegram is personally friendly to Mr. Whitelaw Reid, and has already congratulated the republicans upon having chosen a candidate for the vice presidency who is not only an ornament to their ticket, but will give it strength. At the same time, we are bound to say that the claim that any self-appointed committee, or any committee however appointed, could authoritatively pledge the vote of this city's printers to the republican ticket is ridiculous.—New York Telegram.

When the returns come in the first Tuesday in November it may occur to editors of republican organs that they have placed altogether too much stress upon the vote of New York. If they will consult the record they will find that Iowa, Wisconsin, Indiana, Michigan and Minnesota are not to be counted upon as reliably republican. There has been a wonderful change in the political complexion of those states, and when there shall be added to these the votes of Kansas, Illinois and Nebraska there will be little left for republicans to count.—Chicago Times.

ROMEIS WILL RESIGN.

Reynold Voit May Follow His Example.

The Gas Trustees Say They Have Got No Snap and Want Pay for Their Services.

The position of the council in reducing, or rather in abolishing the salaries of the gas trustees, may lead to several resignations.

It is but fair to say that there is no parallel whatever between the boards of water works and the gas trustees. There is hardly a day that the gas trustees are not obliged to attend meetings. The members of the board of water works trustees meet once a month.

Speaking this morning with a Bee, Mr. Jacob Romeis said he could not retain the position under the circumstances.

"It is hard enough," he said, "to try to operate the department without money, but to give our time and labor gratis is asking too much."

"Then you will throw up the office?"

"I cannot afford to hold it. My private duties are of such a nature that they require all my time."

Mr. Voit, it is said, while not yet ready to hand in his resignation, does not propose giving his time for nothing. His duties to the glass works are of such a nature that he cannot well afford to devote the hours that should be devoted to labor there, to the interests of the city.

The council, it is rumored, will not confirm Mr. Brown. The successor of Dr. Jones, it is claimed, should be a democrat.

EAST TOLEDOANS

Getting Together on the Park Question.

Informal Discussion of the Project—Another Meeting to be Held Soon.

The citizens of East Toledo interested in the location of a park in that portion of the city, met last night at the office of W. H. Tucker, and discussed the subject in an informal manner.

It will be remembered that by the terms of the will of the late Judge Collins, 35 acres of land were bequeathed to the city, with the provision that 35 acres adjacent were purchased by the city, for park purposes only. A number of the citizens spoke in favor of accepting the terms of the will and purchasing property adjoining this 35 acres, and make a park of 70 acres. It was stated that land adjacent to this tract could be bought for $400 an acre. Others were of the opinion that this property was too far out, and that it would be wiser to invest the $14,000 in land more centrally located.

No action was taken, but the meeting was adjourned until next Friday evening, at the same place. At this meeting an organization will be perfected, and some plan of action mapped out.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Geotz, of Cleveland, are visiting with Mrs. Geotz's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Mowrey.

Saturday evening during a thunder shower, Glen Barton, the six-year-old son of Mr. Win Bartow, was struck and instantly killed by lightning while swinging under a tree near the house.

ALL MIXED UP.

Two Unparalleled Divorce Cases Filed in Court,

Involving a Combination of Facts and Circumstances Difficult to Fathom.

Two divorce suits were filed in common pleas court to-day, which, for complication and general mix-up, most certainly break the record.

Their titles are: George H. Babcock against Etta J. Loomis Babcock, and Mabel L. Loomis against Herman H. Loomis.

The parties of the first suit were married in New York state in 1878. On February 2, 1892, Etta J. Loomis, then wife of this plaintiff, obtained a divorce from him. By the laws of the state of New York, the defendant was released from the marriage obligations, but the same remain binding on George Babcock. It is therefore necessary for him to obtain a divorce in Ohio to be entirely free.

In the meantime Mrs. ex-Babcock marries Herman Loomis, who had obtained a divorce under exactly similar circumstances in New York state.

Now Mabel Loomis, ex-wife of Herman Loomis, comes into common pleas court and seeks freedom from the semi-knot that binds her in marital relation with Herman H. Loomis.

Now, to close the little drama in a fitting and theatrical manner, Mrs. ex-Loomis should marry Mr. Babcock, and it is reported that such will be the case.

DIAMOND ROBBERY

Last Night at the House of C. D. Van Hoesen.

The Fellows Who Entered Three Houses in Toledo Captured in the Postoffice This Morning.

Two young men, finely dressed, good looking and to all appearances perfect gentlemen were standing in the postoffice corridor this morning. One of them was tearing a piece of paper into little bits. This act, trivial as it may seem, sealed their fates, as they were approached by Detectives Carew and O'Brien, who had been watching them, and told to come along.

The young men were highly incensed and protested against such treatment. They were guests at the Jefferson, they said, and would like to know who had a right to molest them.

They are two of the slickest housebreakers in the country and have been working Toledo for several nights.

Last evening C. D. Van Hoesen's residence was entered while the inmates were out calling and the whole house ransacked. When the family returned they found things as if a cyclone had swept through them. All the drawers had been dumped on the floor. Everything that had been locked had been pried open and the floors all over the house were littered.

A large amount of jewelry and valuables were taken, the most valuable being a crescent diamond breastpin containing nineteen diamonds, diamond cluster ear rings, each cluster containing thirteen stones, and a diamond charm.

The police were notified late last night. The residences of J. Mandler on Franklin avenue, and T. J. Brown, 1119 Superior street, had been entered in much the same manner the night before, and the same people had done all the jobs. All men on the street last night who could not give good accounts of themselves were arrested, but the right persons were not captured until this morning in the postoffice as above stated.

The two men, after they saw that they could not bluff the detectives, commenced to fight, but they were hustled along to the police station just the same. They threw away the diamonds but were caught in the act and the stones were recovered from the street. One of the men threw a box of jewelry in the gutter, and it was picked up by a messenger boy who proceeded to skip out with it. Detective Carew couldn't leave his man, but he told the youngster to bring the box to him.

"Go to the devil," was the answer.

The kid was caught, however, and the box recovered.

At the police station the men gave their names as Henry Wood, aged 22, and Walter Rice, aged 19. Most of the articles stolen were recovered. The prisoners had lots of jewelry on their persons, including a number of settings from which the stones had been removed.

The coat and vest they took from T. J. Brown's they left at Mandler's, perhaps because it wouldn't fit as well as one they found at Brown's. Both coats were recovered.

Their capture without any clue whatever was a clever piece of work, and Messrs. Carew and O'Brien are to be complimented.

The diamonds taken from the Van Hoesen residence have been recovered, with the exception of a brooch which was dropped by one of the pursuers on the street after the arrest. The detectives have spotted the man who picked it up, and if it is not returned to the police station by a messenger boy or otherwise an arrest will be made.

There was a novel fight the other day near Sunbury, Pa., between a rat and a big blowing viper snake. The rat was bitten dozens of times, while the plucky rodent finally sank its sharp teeth into the snake's neck back of the head and stuck there. The viper writhed and squirmed for fifteen minutes and then lay still. It was dead. The rat also soon died.

A BATTER IDEA.

A batter idea is not a pun on a better idea. It is a downright wicked shame what a mess some good women can make out of a batter. Not fit to eat. Make a batter that will drop on to the griddle and spread itself. Keep your griddles clean; do not get them grease soaked. Use LONG'S BREAKFAST FLOUR for griddle cakes.

MUSIC

WITHOUT A TEACHER

(EUREKA METHOD.)

Winner's "Eureka" Instruction books do for you just what a teacher would do. With the Winner Instruction Book for any instrument, you can learn to play any simple, easy piece of music on that instrument as quickly as by employing a teacher once a week.

You do not need to know anything about music, as these books teach all the rudiments, and explain the meaning of all musical terms. They are very simple and FULLY ILLUSTRATED.

Besides the instruction pages, each book contains nearly a hundred well-chosen pieces for that especial instrument. This alone would cost from $2.00 to $3.00 if purchased separately.

They are intended for pupils living at a distance from the music teacher, or those whose means will not enable them to employ one.

In ordering ask for Winner's "Eureka" Method, and state for what instrument it is wanted. Any one of the volumes will be mailed, postpaid, on receipt of price.

BOARDMAN & GRAY PIANOS

ESTABLISHED 1837.

Sold continuously since 1870 at 219 Summit Street.

This make, sold in large numbers for more than 21 years by a reliable house, recommended and indorsed by nearly all of the best musicians and teachers in Toledo, has become a formidable barrier to the sale of other first-class pianos offered by competing dealers and their agents, by reason of their constantly increasing sale and popularity. Competitors, alarmed and uneasy, resort to many unreasonable as well as untrue statements, which they work off on confiding individuals, and cause them to be circulated in this city and elsewhere. Among these old chestnuts, is the statement that "The Whitney & Currier company manufacture the Boardman & Gray, or have a proprietary interest in their manufacture, and are actuated by that interest, to praise their merit and push their sale." The first part of this statement is untrue. This company has no proprietary interest in the manufacture of any piano. It is actuated in recommending the Boardman & Gray piano by the same motives which actuate any honest individual in recommending that which he knows to be of superior merit, and also by the same motives any one would have in pushing the sale of any successful meritorious article in which a reasonable profit may be realized, and that which is true of Boardman & Gray in this respect, is true of other makes this company has for sale. The superior facilities the Whitney & Currier company has in purchasing, enable it to give greater value for a like sum of money than can be had of its competitors. No other house can show an equal line of first-class Pianos, nor the number from which to select in making a purchase. All are invited to call and see for themselves, whether wishing to buy or not.

Why Should Piano Dealers and Their Agents Go Out of Their Way to Decry the Superior Merits of the Boardman & Gray Pianos? The Reason is Obvious.

The reaction from steam to sail craft in Great Britain is still going on and at an increasing rate. The number and tonnage of the steam vessels now building in the United Kingdom are both less than a year ago, while there has been a notable increase in the tonnage and number of the sailing ships on the stocks.

A kind of spider native to South America is remarkable for the great length of its legs, and has a very singular method of defending itself. When attacked it gathers its feet together, fastening them to the center of its web, and gyrates with the velocity of a whirligig, so that it appears like a mist on the web, offering no point for the enemy to strike at.

It is claimed that a person dreams almost from the first hour of existence. Let a babe have but one experience, either that of light, warmth or the more pleasurable one of suction, and in its sleep that experience may and probably will be recalled. If a child's mouth be watched in its first sleep its lips will be seen to be in motion, the action of sucking is going on—the child is dreaming of its first meal.

Every man brewed his beer up to the seventeenth century. It was in the reign of Elizabeth that public brewing had begun at Burton, which is now the metropolis of English beer, and which owes its pre-eminence in this respect to the quality of its water. The city still maintains the importance of beer as a beverage by keeping an ale conner, whose duty is to taste ales and see that the price charged is not excessive.

Hazelton, Pa., has been disturbed for two or three weeks every night at 12 o'clock by a swishing roar that was a mystery. The unusual noise awakened the whole town. The cause was discovered a few nights ago, when a watch was set, and a tremendous flock of wild pigeons flew over the city. It is supposed they were returning to the nests of their mates in the forest, after making their daily pilgrimage south for food.

The new bridge in Paris, called the Pont Mirabeau, is to be constructed somewhat on the cantilever principle, since it will rest upon two piers and meet in the center. Its stability, however, will depend upon an adjustment of weight like that of a huge crane. The long arm meeting in the center will be of light construction, and to compensate for its light weight the short arm received by the abutment will be specially heavy.

Rats are natives of Asia and their raids westward belong to comparatively modern times. From the fact that they are not mentioned by any of the early Europeans it is surmised they were unknown west of the Ganges in ancient times. The black rat first came from Asia to Europe in the sixteenth century—along with the plague—and was first known as the "graveyard specter," because he preyed on the flesh of those who died during that visitation.

The marriage ceremony practiced by the people of Borneo is very short and simple. Bride and groom are brought out before the assembled crowd with great solemnity, and seated side by side. A betel nut is then cut in two by the medicine woman of the tribe and one-half is given to the groom. They begin to chew the nut and then the old woman, after some sort of incantation, knocks their heads together, and they are declared man and wife.

A Philadelphian sent to Paris for two rubies. They cost $2,000. The purchaser called upon a dealer and showed them to him. He informed her that they were fine garnets, worth $20 apiece. They were returned to the Paris firm, who promptly refunded the money and explained by saying that they themselves were deceived. Similar transactions are not uncommon with American travelers abroad, though seldom as bad as the above.

The photograph has been introduced into medical practice. Dr. G. A. Leach, of Washington, has been experimenting with the talking machine with such results that he expresses the opinion that deafness can be cured by a quickening of of the ear drum with vibrations from its disk. His theory is that the vibrations will dislodge the formation or coating on the inner bones of the ear which produces deafness, and thus restore the process of hearing.

One of the oddest fishes that ever swam in any sea is that known to naturalists under the unattractive name of "ophiocephalus." A species of it is found in the sea of Galilee, where it builds a nest which for beauty of design and elegance of workmanship excels the efforts of the majority of feathered nestbuilders. Its favorite spot for building is in an old root or rock projecting under the water and the material consists of seaweed, grass and leaves.

ADVENTURE WITH A BEAR.

Away back in the "fifties" bears were as numerous on the banks of the Williamette river, in Oregon, as are hogs in the hickory woods of Kentucky in nut time. And that is saying that bears were mighty plenty in Oregon about forty years ago. After the missionaries established their great cattle ranches in Oregon and gathered the Indians from the wilderness and set to work and fed them on beef and bread the bears had it all their own way till they literally overran the land; and that gave a great chance for sport to the sons of missionaries and the sons of new settlers "where rolls the Oregon."

It was not perilous sport, for the grizzly was rarely encountered here. His home was further to the south. Neither was the large and clumsy cinnamon bear abundant on the banks of the beautiful Williamette in those dear old days, when you might ride from sun to sun, belly deep in wild flowers, and never see a house. But the small black bear, as indicated before was on deck in great force at all times and in nearly all places.

It was the custom those days for boys to take this bear in the lasso: usually on horseback. We would ride along close to to the dense woods that grew by the river bank, and getting between him and his base of retreat, would, as soon as we sighted a bear feeding out in the open plain, swing our lassos and charge him with whoop and yell. His habit of rearing up and standing erect and doubling his fists as if to fight, a la John L. Sullivan, made him an easy prey to the lasso. And then the fun of taking him home through the long, strong grass! As a rule he did not show fight when once in the toils of the lasso, but in a few hours, making the best of the situation like a little philosopher, he would lead along like a dog. There were, of course, exceptions to this examplary example.

On one occasion, particularly, Ed Parish, the son of a celebrated missionary, came near losing his life by counting too confidently on the docility of a bear which he had taken into a lasso and was leading home. His bear suddenly stopped, stood up, and began to haul in the lasso hand over hand just like a sailor. And as the other end of the rope was fastened tight to the big Spanish pommel of the saddel, of course the distance between the bear and the horse soon grew perilously short, and Ed Parish slid from his horse's back and took to the brush, leaving horse and bear to fight it out as best they could. When he came back with some boys to help him the horse was dead and the bear was gone, having cut the rope with his teeth.

After having lost his horse in that way Ed Parish had to do his hunting on foot, and as my people were emigrants and very poor, we, that is my brother and I, were on foot also. That kept us three boys together a great deal, and many an adventure we had in those days, "when all the world was young."

We three boys had gone bear hunting up a wooded canon close to his father's ranch late one warm summer afternoon. Ed had a gun, but, as I said before, my people were very poor, so neither my brother nor I had other arms or implements than the inseparable lasso. Ed, who was always the captain in such cases, chose the center of the dense, deep canon for himself, and putting my brother on the hill to his right and myself on the hill to his left, ordered a simultaneous "Forward, march!"

After a time we heard him shoot. Then we heard him shout. Then there was a long silence. Then suddenly his voice rang out above the treetops in the deep canon:

"Come down! Come quick! I've treed a bear. Come and help me catch him! Come quick! Oh, Moses! Come quick! And—and—and catch him!"

My brother came tearing down the steep hill on his side of the canon as I descended from my side. We got down about the same time. But the trees in their dense foliage, together with the underbrush, concealed everything. We could see neither bear nor boy.

I laid my ears to the ground after I got a glimpse of my brother in the other side of the canon, but could hear nothing but the beating of my heart. Suddenly there was a wild yell away up in the dense boughs of a big, mossy maple tree that leaned over toward my side of the canon. I looked and looked with eagerness, but could see nothing whatever. Then again came the yell from the dense top of the big leaning maple. Then there was a moment of silence, and then the cry: "Oh, Moses! Why don't you come, I say, and help me catch 'im?" By this time I could see the leaves rustling. And I could see the boy rustling, too. And just behind was a bear. He had treed the bear sure enough.

My eyes gradually grew accustomed to the gloom and density, and I now saw the red mouth of the bear amid the green foliage high overhead. The bear had already pulled off one of Ed's boots and was making a bootjack of his big red mouth for the other.

"Why don't you come on, I say, and help me catch him?"

He kicked himself a little further along up the leaning trunk, and in doing so he kicked his boot in the bear's mouth.

"Oh, Moses! Moses! why don't you come? I've got a bear I tell you."

"Where is it, Ed?" shouted my brother on the other side.

But Ed did not tell him, for he had not yet got his foot from the bear's mouth. Then my brother and I shouted out to Ed at the same time. This gave him great courage. He said something like "Confound you!" to the bear, and getting his foot loose without losing the boot, he kicked the bear right in the mouth. This brought things to a standstill. Ed kicked along a little higher up, and as the leaning trunk of the tree was already bending under the bear's weight, he did not seem disposed to go further.

My brother got to the bottom of the canon and brought the gun up to where I stood. But as he had no powder or bullets, and as Ed could not get them to him, even if he would have been willing to risk his shooting at the bear, it was hard to decide what to do. He had been badly wounded, and of course was full of fight. It was already dusk and we could not stay there all night.

"Boys," shouted Ed, as he steadied himself in the forks of his leaning and overhanging bough, "I am going to come down on my lazy rope. There! Take that end of it, tie your lazy ropes to it, and scramble up the hill."

We obeyed him to the letter; and as we did so he fastened his lasso firmly to the leaning bough and descended like a spider to where we had stood a moment before. We all scrambled out of the canon together and as quickly as possible. When we went back next day to get our ropes we found the bear dead at the foot of the old mossy maple. The skin was a splendid one, and Ed insisted that my brother and I should have it. We gladly accepted it.

My brother, who was older and wiser than I, said that he made us take the skin so that we would not be disposed to tell how we had "treed a bear." But I trust not, for he was a very generous-hearted fellow. Anyhow, we never told the story while he lived.

WOMEN'S HAIR IN A LARIAT.

Living in the Wenatchee, a narrow valley putting into the upper Columbia river at a point called the Mission, because French priests long ago located there and taught the Indians, is an old Indian chief, La Pier by name, who has in his possession a remarkable souvenir, says the San Francisco Examiner. It is nothing less than a lasso of human hair 50 feet long and of variegated colors. The lasso is very old, just how old is not known, for old La Pier, who cowers in his cabin on the banks of the Wenatchee, is not talkative to strange callers. Only his priests of the mission who have known him long can get anything from him regarding the relic.

The lasso, however, speaks for itself if one gets his eye on it. It is undoubtedly composed of human hair, and woman's hair at that. There you see the dark tresses of women who once were doubtless famous, locally at least, as brunette beauties. Further along in the rope may be noted hair of brown and of auburn, and in half a dozen places of yellow. Hair jet black, straw-colored, and even red, is shown, but the saddest of all to contemplate are the long tresses of gray and white which are twisted yards long in places in the lariat.

As had been intimated, Old Chief La Pier will not talk much about the lasso, but to the priests he has confided its grewsome history. The hair was taken by the savages from the heads of wives and daughters of pioneers. Many years has it been in the possession of the old chief. He will not sell it, no matter how much he is offered, and it is rare when he will show it to any one except a particular priest who has won his confidence. To all others he is exceedingly reticent. He will scarcely talk of the rope at all. The lariat has been used many a time on the trail. Old La Pier's savage ancestors used to lasso buffalo in Blackfoot valley, and when he got it he increased its length by the hair of several scalps he had. It is believed that probably 30 women have been scalped to furnish material for this fearful relic the taciturn chief has in his cabin. It has come to be regarded as very valuable. The wily old Indian and his followers think there is some occult power attached to it, and it is rarely that it is brought to the light.

TO CLEANSE THE SYSTEM

Effectually, yet gently, when costive or bilious, or when the blood is impure or sluggish, to permanently cure habitual constipation, to awaken the kidneys and liver to a healthy activity, without irritating or weakening them, to dispel headaches, colds or fevers, use Syrup of Figs.

Sound travels by waves radiating from a central point of disturbance, just as waves radiate when a stone is dropped into still water. So far as the hearing of each individual is concerned these waves move in a direct line from the cause of the sound to the ear, the impact being the greatest in the ear nearest to the source. This being the case a person who has totally lost the sense of hearing in one ear, although he may imagine that the defect is of little consequence, cannot locate the direction of a sound to save his life, even when the center of disturbance is quite near him.

why is it that all the bogus and adulterated white leads are always branded "Pure," or "Strictly Pure White Lead?"

No one ever puts a misleading brand on an article of merchandise, unless he wants to "work off" an inferior for a better.

This Barytes or Baryta, is a heavy white powder, worthless as paint; costing only about one cent per pound and is used to adulterate and cheapen the mixture. No one ever adulterates white lead with an article costing more than Lead.

If you purchase any of the following brands you are sure of having strictly pure white lead—

ANCHOR (Cincinnati)
ARMSTRONG & McKELVY (Pittsburgh)
BEYMER-BAUMAN (Pittsburgh)
COLLIER (St. Louis)
CORNELL (Buffalo)
DAVIS-CHAMBERS (Pittsburgh)
ECKSTEIN (Cincinnati)
FAHNESTOCK (Pittsburgh)
MORLEY (Cleveland)
RED SEAL (St. Louis)
SHIPMAN (Chicago)
SOUTHERN (St. Louis and Chicago)

These brands of strictly pure White Lead and the National Lead Co.'s Tinting Colors are for sale by the best dealers in paints everywhere.

If you are going to paint, it will pay you to send to us for a book containing information that may save you many a dollar; it will only cost you a postal card to do so.

Toledo Loses a Game to Minneapolis —Reports from Ball Games in Other Cities.

The Toledo club put a catcher in to play first base yesterday, and then fined him $50 because he did not play it up to Campion's standing. And Ely, the best ball player in the team, was fined $50. Hurley has caught nearly all the games Toledo has played this summer and the fine is the rankest injustice, and to put a fine of $50 on a ball player who takes the chances and tries to win in the way that Fred Ely does will not tend to increase the club's popularity with the patrons of the game.

Toledo lost yesterday's game by bad play, true, but mistakes will occur in the best regulated families, and a base ball magnate who tries to follow Chris Von Der Ahe's tactics will find that it does not pay. The game yesterday resulted as follows:

Minneapolis ..0 4 0 0 1 0 0 1 *—6 6 4

Earned runs—Toledo 2. Two-base hits—Nicholson. Passed balls—Dixon 2. Double play—Nicholson to Hurley. Bases on balls—By Dewald 4, by Swartzel 3. Hit by pitcher—Armor, Dixon. Struck out—Hurley, Newell, Munyan, Kratz 2. Left on bases—Toledo 7, Minneapolis 9. Wild pitches—Dewald 2. Umpire—Guenther. Time of game—1:55.

The race was run in the midst of a rain storm. Affidavits will be made as to the time and distance, and an application will be made to the league of American Wheelmen to have Rands' great time adopted.

Boston, June 22.—John L. Sullivan broke through the traces of temperance on Monday. About 4 o'clock in the afternoon he arrived at the Tremont house and at once became ruler of everything in sight.

He had a big roll of money which he had won on the races, and he came home to celebrate his good luck. His actions certainly indicated a long distance from the milestones on the road to sobriety. He sang songs, recited short passages from "Honest Hearts," and wound up by challenging the earth.

"Give me just one swipe at the man in the moon," he shouted, "and I bet you a thousand there won't be any moon left, see?"

P. O'Hern and D. Brenniff, the battery for the Rattlers, have resigned on account of the poor support they got while playing the Colts.

The Merrits challenge the Speranza Juniors for a game of ball, to be played Saturday at 2 p. m. at the corner of Jarvis and Dix streets. If accepted answer through Thursday night's Bee.

SAFE, SURE AND SPEEDY.

No external remedy ever yet devised has so fully and unquestionably met these three prime conditions as successfully as Allcock's Porous Plasters. They are safe because they contain no deleterious drugs and are manufactured upon scientific principles of medicine. They are sure because nothing goes into them except ingredients which are exactly adapted to the purposes for which a plaster is required. They are speedy in their action because their medicinal qualities go right to their work of relieving pain and restoring the natural and healthy performance of the functions of muscles, nerves and skin. Do not be deceived by misrepresentation. Ask for Allcock's, and let no solicitation or explanation induce you to accept a substitute.

WHAT IS AN EDITION?

The Answer Depends Altogether on the Publisher's Caprice.

"What constitutes an edition?" is a question that is frequently asked, and nobody seems qualified to answer it satisfactorily. The truth is that in ninety-nine out of a hundred cases later editions are merely servile reprints of the first edition, and there may have been 10,000 copies of a book made for the first edition or there may been only 150.

The first editions of all works by Emile Zola number 20,000 each. In a Paris shop, where only rare volumes are sold, a first edition of "L'Assommoir" is held at 105 francs ($21), but this book came out at a time when Emile Zola was comparitively unknown and Zola's editions were then limited to 1,000 copies each.

In fact, in France an edition is supposed to consist of 1,000 copies, but as Mr. Robert H. Sherard says in a recent letter, "publishers are not without guile, and to whip up a sale, a book may be issued in editions of 50 copies so that by the time 1,000 copies have been disposed of the book is in its twentieth edition.

Paul Bonnetain once made a great fuss about this swindling practice. "If," he wrote to his publisher, "my book has reached such an edition, bona fides, you are swindling me, for you have accounted to me for so many copies only. If the editions are imaginary then the public is being swindled, inasmuch as you lead people to believe in a success and a demand which do not exist. In either case I object to your conduct."

In France the royalty paid to Daudet, Zola, DeMaupassant and a few others is about 30 per cent. on the retail price of each book sold. Many first-rate authors have to content themselves with 14 per cent. and a vast majority of writers do not receive more than 9 per cent., while beginners get a royalty of 7 per cent. only. In America, the royalty paid to authors is generally 10 per cent., although there are numerous instances where the royalty is very much larger.—Chicago News.

AN IMMENSE GATHERING

Attended the Commencement Day Exercises

At the Convent of the Sacred Heart—Monseignor Boff, of Cleveland, Present.

Before 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, crowds began to gather at the Ursuline convent, and five minutes after the doors were opened, at 2:45, every chair in the large hall was taken. There was but little change in the program already printed in the Bee. On accoutn of its length and the time taken up in the distribution of prizes, the esseays which were to have been read by Misses Mina Rogers, Katharine Hannon and L. Just, and the violin obligato by Miss Langdon, were omitted, much to the regret of the audience.

The salutatory, given with fine effect by Miss Sar Kountz, spoke of the high hopes and glorious dreams of the graduates and their delight at having with them the reverend father, Monseignor Boff, who had honored them with his presence. Miss Kountz' pleasing presence and charming delivery added much to the gracefully worded welcome.

Miss May McDonnel, in her essay, "Then and Now," gave a striking picture of the America of 1492 and 1892, and paid a glowing tribute to the great discoverer, Columbus. Miss McDonnell possesses a clear, distinct voice, and much elocutionary talent.

The piano "Fantasia," another number worthy of special mention, was brilliantly executed by Mrs. Dunn, Kountz, Bronson and McAllister. The recitation, "King Robert, of Sicily," given in concert by the elocution class was one of the best numbers, the chanting of the magnificat being especially beautiful.

The valedictory by Miss Gertrude Gramling, was beautifully written and charmingly rendered. At its conclusion, Monseignor Boff, of Cleveland, addressed a few words of congratulation to pupils, teachers and parents. The monseignor was visibly effected as he spoke of his labors among the parents of these children, who are now coming forward to take their places in church and state, and prayed for the greatest good for these dear young people.

The performance ended with a chorus "Hymn to the Sacred Heart," by the entire school, Misses Harty, Horan and Keenan, soloists.

WEBB CALLED HOME.

Looks as Though He Would Take Depew's Place.

New York, June 22.—A morning paper says: Vice President Walter Webb, of the New York Central railroad, now on a vacation in Europe, has been summoned home by cable. He sails from Liverpool to-morrow. This looks as if Mr. Depew is to be the next secretary of state and Mr. Webb the next president of the New York Central road.

It is probable that no man ever resigned so many offices to accept a new one as Mr. Depew will resign if he enters President Harrison's cabinet. He is now either president or director in seventeen of the largest companies in the country, and he will have to resign from all of them to accept the single office of secretary of state.

FATAL EXPLOSION.

Three Men Killed and Another Badly Injured.

Lachute, Que., June 22.—Three men were blown to atoms and one boy was seriously injured yesterday at the Brownsburg cartridge factory by an explosion which occurred in a building set apart from the factory for the purpose of loading detonators.

The building was blown to atoms. Richard Burke was blown through the door and was the only man who got out of the building alive.

Those killed are: James Kearns, of Montreal; Wm. Gunn, of North Maisonneuve, and John Carren, foreman.

The explosion was distinctly heard at this place, which is four miles from the scene of the accident.

TROUBLE ON THE LAKE.

Big Superior Has been Seriously Disturbed.

Some Craft May Find a New Reef Thrown Up in Her Path as the Result.

Duluth, Minn., June 22.—Some convulsion of nature has taken place on the surface of the earth under Lake Superior, and marine men from Duluth to the east end of the lake are in a quandary.

A day or two ago a recession of the waters of the lake was observed along the shore near this city of about 24 inches. Soon the water returned to its previous height and quickly receded once more.

A third recession was noted by scientific observers at the large government fish hatchery here. The entire movement was comprised within half an hour.

Further down the lake where it is much broader, this lowering of the waters was more marked. At Isle Royale the difference of level between the highest and lowest points was five feet, of which a foot and a half was in advance above the normal level.

The waters were agitated during the entire day, though the observed phenomenon took place in the early morning. In Duluth habor, which was as usual, crowded with vessels, many steamers, ferries and barges were forced by a current like a mill-race out of the channels and upon the submerged beaches in the shallow portions of the harbor. At times vessels were unable to make head against the current.

At the time of the wave and for some hours previous there was no wind, indeed wind is not believed to be a sufficient agency to cause such a rise and fall over an area so large as that of Lake Superior.

IN TRADING CIRCLES.

Both at Our Home and Abroad.

Wheat Quotations for the Day—Price Currents for Produce and Other Articles.

At the close of the trading east and west, there seems to be no new elements of strength in any direction, and the room-traders on the Exchanges are only responsible, so far as we can discover, for the advance in wheat to-day, which has been about 1c bus at Chicago and 7-8c in New York on July wheat. The markets close firm, and there has been more activity than usual.

Corn has been very strong and also advanced 1c, but wheat cannot always follow corn on a wild market.

Foreign markets close lower.

In New York June wheat closed 1c and July 7-8c higher. June corn 1 1-4c and July 1 1-8c, and June oats 3-4c higher.

In Chicago July wheat closed 1 1-2c better. June corn 1-2c and July 1 5-8c higher. June corn 1 3-4c higher.

In Toledo the trading has been more active to-day and wheat futures have made an advance, but hardly equal to other markets. On the basis of July we close firm at a gain of 5-8c; August about the same, while June and cash are about 1c up. June sold at 85 1-4 and at close 86 1-4 was the price; July opened at 82 1-8 and closed at 82 7-8; August sold at 81 1-8 and closed at 81 7-8. Cash wheat was in fair request, the sales being in car lots to about 20,000 bu; No. 2 soft sold at 85 1-4 to 86 and at close 86 1-4 was the price; No. 3 soft at 82; No. 3 red winter at 80.

Corn. No. 2 soft at 50 1-2; No. 3 at 46 to 47; No. 4 at 40 to 39; No. 3 yellow at 47 1-2. At close No. 3 corn was offered at 46 and No. 4 at 38. Oats, No. 2 white, 36 1-2; No. 2 35.

TZAR'S CONSUMPTIVE SON.

The Grand Duke George, the Tzar's second son, who, ever since his enforced return, through illness, from his Indian tour, has been under medical treament for pulmonary disease, has been passing the winter at Abbas-Tuman in the Caucasus. A private letter from that place states that his imperial highness is undergoing a most remarkable course of treatment. The walls of his apartments are bare and unpapered, the furniture is of plain wood or cane without upholstering or stuff-covering of any kind, and his bed consists only of the thinnest of mattresses. Throughout the winter only a very moderate fire has been kept up, while the windows of the Grand Duke's rooms have been continuously open. His attendants have suffered dreadfully from the cold; but his medical advisers hold that this low temperature is very beneficial to their imperial patient, as it tends to destroy the bacillus and prevent the formation of tubercle. They maintain that the progress of the disease has been arrested, and express hopes that, if the treatment which they prescribe is persevered with, the Grand Duke will in two years' time have completely recovered.—Pall Mall Gazette.

NO USE FOR A CIRCULATION LIAR

A London insurance man, who is in this city, said yesterday: "We have in London one of the most unique newspapers in the world; for while it is published every day in the year except Sundays, a copy of it is never sold or circulated. The Evening Telegraph of London is issued each afternoon from the office of the Daily Telegraph, which paper is a morning daily, issued six times a week, and has the largest circulation of any paper in England and, with one exception, the largest in the world. The proprietors of the Daily Telegraph, in printing the evening edition, which is copy-righted, do so merely in order to protect themselves in the right to use the name in case they ever care to issue an evening edition, and also to prevent any one else from starting such a sheet and gaining the great advantage which the use of the title, Evening Telegraph, would give.—Philadelphia Record.
